

Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments

Publications

"Nobody does defense policy better than CSBA. Their work on strategic and budgetary topics manages to combine first-rate quality and in-depth research with timeliness and accessibility—which is why so many professionals consider their products indispensable." – Gideon Rose, Editor of Foreign Affairs, 2010-2021

BRIEFS

To Preserve Extended Nuclear Deterrence in Europe an American Should be SACEUR

April 18, 2025 | Eric Edelman, Franklin C. Miller

Recent press reports suggest that Pentagon leaders are considering a dramatic organizational change, including the traditional U.S. role of providing NATO with its Supreme Allied

BRIEFS

Understanding NATO's Concept for Deterrence and Defense of the Euro-Atlantic Area

May 20, 2024 | Katherine E. Dahlstrand, Sean Monaghan, Sara Bjerg Moller

NATO, the largest and most powerful military alliance in history, turned seventy-five in April. In July, the leaders of NATO will return to the site where its founding document, the Washington Treaty, was

BRIEFS

2023 Annual Report

January 30, 2024

For nearly three decades, CSBA has provided consistent, high-quality, and innovative research on defense strategy, budgets, and the security environment.

BRIEFS

An Ongoing and Necessary Renaissance: NATO's Nuclear Posture

January 25, 2024 | Eric Edelman, Franklin C. Miller

President Putin's nuclear saber-rattling while the war in Ukraine has raged, along with lurid nuclear threats by Russian officials and newspapers, have once again focused attention on NATO's nuclear

BRIEFS

2022 Annual Report

April 21, 2023

For nearly three decades, CSBA has provided consistent, high-quality, and innovative research on defense strategy, budgets, and the security environment.

BRIEFS

Big Centralization, Small Bets, and the Warfighting Implications of Middling Progress: Three Concerns about JADC2's Trajectory

April 18, 2023 | Travis Sharp, Tyler Hacker

Warfare has always been a contest of incomplete information and imperfect control, with each side striving to find the enemy in an unfavorable position and coordinate his destruction. Although the