

Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments

IN THE NEWS

Missile Attacks on U.S. Ships: A Threat to Deployed Forces and a New Dilemma for Commanders

October 12, 2016 | Military Times

By: Andrew Tilghman

Related Expert: Peter Haynes

“This is what the Navy has been talking about for years. The anti-access and area-denial capabilities are developing rapidly, and the barriers to acquiring them are lower and lower, so you’re going to see more and more of this falling into the hands of non-state actors,” said Peter Haynes, a retired Navy officer who is now a defense expert with the Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments in Washington.