

Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments

IN THE NEWS

No, Trump Did Not Back Down From China

February 11, 2017 | RealClearWorld

By: Harry Kazianis

Related Experts: Bryan Clark, Peter Haynes, Timothy A. Walton, Jesse Sloman

Following through with a pledge to rebuild the U.S. military into a fighting force that China would not want to mess with in any possible combat domain. With specific focus on naval, air, and cyber capabilities, Beijing would need to think long and hard about any sort of kinetic conflict with America. In fact, the Trump team should study the recent report published by the Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments that details in the most comprehensive terms how to restore American seapower -- an area of weakness Washington must shore up soon.