

Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments

IN THE NEWS

Lockheed's F-35, F-22 May Soon Face Their Most Serious Threat Yet

April 19, 2017 | Investor's Business Daily

By: Gillian Rich

Related Expert: Mark Gunzinger

"Even fifth generation would be challenged to penetrate in certain ranges against these very capable air-missile-defense systems," said Mark Gunzinger, a senior fellow at the Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments and a retired Air Force colonel, noting China has developed its own "very advanced" HQ-9 air-defense system. But he said the S-400 wouldn't create "no-go zones" for the U.S. and allies.