

CSBA

Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments

Travis Sharp

Senior Fellow

Sharp@csbaonline.org

Dr. Travis Sharp is a Senior Fellow at the Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments.

He directs the defense budget studies program and works to inform policymakers, senior leaders, and the public about issues related to resourcing national security. He also serves as a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Navy Reserve and is a lecturer at The John Hopkins University's Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS). In 2023-2024, he served as a staff member on the National Defense Strategy Commission, a congressionally mandated bipartisan review group.

Dr. Sharp has held positions with academic and policy organizations, including George Washington University's Institute for Security and Conflict Studies, the Office of the Secretary of Defense, and the Center for a New American Security. His research has appeared in The Journal of Strategic Studies, Policy Sciences, Survival, and International Affairs, among other outlets.

Dr. Sharp is a past recipient of the Naval War College's Reinauer Essay Prize in Defense Economics, the 1LT Bacevich Fellowship at CNAS, the Harold Rosenthal Fellowship in International Relations, and the Herbert Scoville Peace Fellowship.

View the Google Scholar Profile

(<https://scholar.google.com/citations?user=Ye9OUssAAAAJ>) for Dr. Travis Sharp.

Education

M.A. and Ph.D. in Security Studies

Princeton University, School of Public and International Affairs

M.P.A. in International Relations

Princeton University, School of Public and International Affairs

B.A. in History and Politics (summa cum laude)

University of San Francisco

Graduated (with highest distinction) College of Naval Command and Staff

Naval War College

Areas of Expertise

- Defense Budgets
- Force Planning